Confidentiality

We ask you for information about you so that you can receive proper care and treatment. We keep this information, together with details of your care, because it may be needed if we see you again. We may use some of this information for other reasons: for example, to help us protect the health of the public generally and to see that the NHS runs efficiently, plans for the future, trains its staff, pays its bills and can account for its actions. Information may also be needed to help educate tomorrow's clinical staff and to carry out medical and other health research for the benefit of everyone. Sometimes the law requires us to pass on information: for example, to notify a birth. The NHS Central Register for England & Wales contains basic personal details of all patients registered with a general practitioner. The Register does not contain clinical information. You may be receiving care from other people as well as the NHS. We may need to share some information about you so that we can all work together for your benefit. We only ever use or pass on information about you if there is a genuine need for it in your and everyone's interests. Whenever we can we shall remove details which identify you. The sharing of some types of very sensitive personal information is strictly controlled by law.

Everyone working in the NHS has a legal duty to keep information about you confidential. Anyone who receives information from us is also under a legal duty to keep it confidential.

THE MAIN REASONS FOR SHARING INFORMATION ARE:

Provision of health care, treatment and looking after the health of the general public, managing and planning within the NHS for example: making sure that our services can meet patient needs in the future. Paying your doctors, other staff, and the hospital which treats you for the care they provide, auditing accounts. Preparing statistics on NHS performance and activity (where steps will be taken to ensure you cannot be identified). Investigating complaints or legal claims, helping staff to review the care they provide to make sure it is of the highest standard. Training and educating staff (but you can choose whether or not to be involved personally)

Research approved by the Local Research Ethics Committee. (If anything to do with the research would involve you personally, you will be contacted to see if you are willing to take part.)

Teenager Confidentiality

It does not matter how old you are, for free confidential information and advice, contact your GP / Nurse, Brook Advisory Centre: 0808 8021234 and Youth Access: 020 8772 9900.

Violent or abusive behaviour

We look forward to looking after you through good times and sometimes sad times; however, we will not tolerate violence or abuse. This practice supports the NHS 'Zero Tolerance Campaign'. We aim to treat all our patients courteously irrespective of race, colour, creed or sexual orientation and we expect patients to behave towards our staff in a similarly respectful manner. In the unlikely event that a person was to behave in a threatening, abusive, violent or discriminatory manner towards our staff or other patients, then they risk immediate removal from our practice list and premises.

NHS 111

It's not a 999 emergency. But you need medical help fast. There's now NHS 111 number to call.

What is NHS 111?

It is a new NHS telephone number being introduced to help make it easier for you to access local health services. You can now call 111 when you need medical help fast, but it is not a 999 emergency. You will be assessed, given advice and directed straightaway to the local service that can help you best. That could be A&E, an Urgent Care Centre or Minor Injuries Unit, an out of hours GP, community nurse, emergency dentist or a late opening pharmacist. You can ring the 111 number 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, 365 days a year. Calls from landlines and mobile phones are free and there is a Typetalk service (18001 111) for the deaf and hard of hearing.

Why should I use it?

NHS 111 is a fast and easy way to get the right help - wherever you are, and whatever the time. It can also help us free up 999 and local A&E departments so that they can focus on emergency cases.

How does it work?

111 will get you through to a team of highly trained advisers, who are supported by experienced nurses. They will ask you questions to assess your symptoms, and give you the health care advice you need or direct you to the right local service. The NHS 111 team will, where possible, book you an appointment or transfer you directly to the people you need to speak to.

If NHS 111 advisers think you need an ambulance, they will immediately arrange for one to be sent to you.

Calls to 111 are recorded. All calls and the records they create are maintained securely, and will only be shared with others directly involved in your care.

When do I use it?

You should use the NHS 111 service if:

- You need medical help fast, but it is not a 999 emergency;
- You think you need to go to A&E or another NHS urgent care service;
- You don't know who to call for medical help or you don't have a GP to call; or
- You require health information or reassurance about what to do next.

For less urgent health needs, you should still contact your GP or local pharmacist in the usual way. If a health professional has given you a specific number to call when you are concerned about your condition, please continue to use that number. For immediate, life-threatening emergencies, continue to call 999.

More information:

Calls to NHS 111 are free, including mobiles, 24 hours a day, to access the NHS 111 service via a textphone call 18001 111. They also have a confidential interpreter service, which is available in many languages. Simply say the language you wish to use when they answer your call. You can find out more at www.nhs.uk/111

There is also an Easy Read version of the NHS 111 leaflet you can download and leaflets in the following languages:

Arabic, Bengali, Czech, Chinese, Farsi, French, Hindi, Latvian, Lithuanian, Polish, Portuguese, Punjabi, Russian, Slovak, Somali, Spanish and Urdu

Care Quality Commission (CQC)

The Care Quality Commission is the independent regulator of all health and social care services in England. It is their job to make sure that care provided by hospitals, GP surgeries, dentists, ambulances, care homes and services in people's own homes and elsewhere meets national standards of quality and safety.

Sickness Certificates

You do not require a doctor's sickness certificate for any illness lasting seven days or less. Your employer may however require you to complete a self-certification form (SC2) which is available from your employer or on the HMRC website.

Evidence that you are sick

If you are sick for more than seven days, your employer can ask you to give them some form of medical evidence to support payment of SSP (statutory sick pay). It is up to your employer to decide whether you are incapable of work. A medical certificate, now called a 'Statement of Fitness for Work' (see below) from your doctor is strong evidence that you are sick and would normally be accepted, unless there is evidence to prove otherwise. You could also provide evidence from someone who is not a medical practitioner, e.g. a dentist. Your employer will decide whether or not this evidence is acceptable. If your employer has any doubts, they may still ask for a medical certificate from your GP. Statement of Fitness for Work - 'Fit Note' The 'fit note' was introduced on 6 April 2010. With your employer's support, the note will help you return to work sooner by providing more information about the effects of your illness or injury. For more information see the DirectGov website (where this information was sourced)

Community Pharmacist Minor Ailments Scheme

This scheme offers advice and/or treatment for a wide range of conditions: These include: Cough • Sore Throat • Headache • Fever • Nasal Congestion • Hay fever • Allergies Diarrhoea • Vaginal Thrush • Threadworm • Athlete's Foot • Insect Bites or Stings • Mouth Ulcers • Nappy Rash • Pain • Constipation

What does this mean?

The scheme means that you don't need to wait for an appointment to see your doctor about any of the problems listed above. You can choose to go to see your pharmacist who can give advice and treatment. If you don't pay for your prescription your pharmacist will be able to supply any medicines you might need free of charge. You will need to sign the back of the Pharmacist's prescription form and show proof of your exemption like you do on a doctor's prescription.

Home Visits

Housebound patients and those too ill to attend the Health Centre may request a home visit by calling 01908 200529. Making a Complaint

We aim to provide patients with the best care we can, but we will sometimes fall short of the mark. If you have any compliments, comments, concerns or complaints about our service, we want to hear about it. If you have a complaint to make, please don't be afraid to say how you feel. We welcome feedback to help us improve our standards and you will not be treated any differently because you have complained. We will just do our best to put right anything that has gone wrong.

How to Complain

Most problems can be sorted out quickly and easily, often at the time they arise and with the person concerned. If your problem cannot be resolved this way and you wish to make a formal complaint you should address your complaint to the Complaints Manager preferably in writing as soon as possible after the event and be as specific and concise as possible. And ideally within a matter of days or at most a few weeks, as this helps us to establish what happened more easily. In any event, this should be within 12 months of the incident or as soon as the matter first came to your attention.

Complaining on behalf of someone else

We keep strictly to the rules of medical confidentiality. If you wish to make a complaint and are not the patient involved you must have their permission to do so. A third party consent form will be required unless the patient is incapable (because of illness) to complete this

What we do next

We shall acknowledge your complaint within three working days of receipt and will investigate the issues raised and respond. If we expect a delay we will explain the reason for the delay and tell you when we expect to finish. You may then receive a formal reply in writing, or you may be invited to meet with the person(s) concerned to attempt to resolve the issue.

When looking into a complaint we attempt to see what happened and why, to see if there is something we can learn from this, and make it possible for you to discuss the issue with those involved if you would like to do so. When the investigations are complete your complaint will be determined and a final response sent to you. Where your complaint involves more than one organisation (e.g. Social Services) we will liaise with that organisation so that you receive one coordinated reply. We may need your consent to do this. Where your complaint has been sent initially to an incorrect organisation, we may seek your consent to forward this to the correct person to deal with. The final response letter will include details of the result of your complaint and also your right to escalate the matter further if you remain dissatisfied with the response.

If you are dissatisfied with the outcome you may refer the matter to:

Carer's

Are you a Carer?

We are interested in identifying all patients that are carers or have carers regardless of age especially those people who may be caring without help or support. We know that carers are often "hidden" looking after a family member or helping a friend or neighbour with day to day tasks and may not see themselves as a carer. Caring for someone is an important and valuable role in the Community, which is often a 24 hour job that can be very demanding and isolating for the carer. Carers should receive appropriate support by way of access to accurate information on a range of topics such as entitlement to benefits and respite care and not least, a listening ear when things get too much.

Who are Young Carers?

It is any young person from the age of 5 to 19 who looks after a family member who is ill or disabled. A young carer may help their brother into his wheelchair, or help their mum get into and out of the shower. They may give their Nan her medicine, or help their Uncle calm down if he's had too much to drink. The practice works alongside Carers Milton Keynes who specialise in supplying advice and support to carers of all ages. We can provide you with further information or you can contact them direct on 01908 231703 or via their website on www.carersmiltonkeynes.org

Summary Care Record

A new Central NHS Computer System is coming soon, called the Summary Care Record (SCR). The Summary Care Record will help emergency doctors and nurses help you when you contact them when the surgery is closed. Initially, it will contain just your medications and allergies. Later on as the central NHS computer system develops, (known as the 'Summary Care Record' – SCR), other clinical staff that work in the NHS and are treating you will be able to access it, provided you give your permission each time. In the future the SCR could also contain information from hospitals, out of hour's services, and specialist's letters. These can only be added with the agreement of your practice. Your information will be extracted from practices such as ours and held on a secure central NHS system. As with all new systems there are pros and cons to think about.

When you speak to an emergency doctor you might overlook something that is important and if they have access to your medical record it might avoid mistakes or problems, although even then, you will be asked to give your consent each time a member of NHS Staff wishes to access your record. If you are medically unable to give your consent then the clinician will make a judgement on your behalf, however access without your consent will raise an alert on the system. On the other hand, you may have strong views about sharing your personal information and wish to keep your information at the level of this practice. Connecting for Health (CfH), the government agency responsible for the Summary Care Record have agreed with doctors' leaders that all new patients registering with this practice should be able to decide whether or not their information is uploaded to the Central NHS Computer System. For further information visit the Connecting for Health Website If you choose to opt out of the scheme, you will need to complete a form and bring it along to the surgery.
